

title: Interview in the AM and can't sleep

num_comments: 8

num_up_votes: 3

upvote_ratio: 0.81

Post Text

So I've got an interview at 10am (currently 2:13am where I'm at) and I'm getting restless/stir crazy/anxious to the point where I just want to go do something and make up an excuse to cancel/reschedule my interview. Btw, it's for a computer screen repair position roughly 25 miles from home. I'm trying to land a help desk job, ideally, but I'm willing to start anywhere in IT. Never been formally diagnosed with ADHD or ADD but you know, I check off most of the boxes. View Poll

Comments

Commenter_2

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 20

Go anyway and rock the interview!

Commenter_3

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 6

You're very optimistic lol. I forgot to mention that I have to be up at 6am.

Commenter_4

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 10

Will it be worse next time if you reschedule? I say go to the interview and do your best.

Commenter_5

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 5

You'll get into IT a lot faster by doing some intro courses compared to fixing screens

Commenter_3

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 2

I'm currently working on my A+.

Commenter_6

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 1

This right here. You get certs and they will take you in.

Commenter_7

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 1

You can do it! I believe in you!

Commenter_8

ID: REDACTED! ~(o.o)~ <3, Upvotes: 1

This is your chance to show them the true you... when it comes to events that may determine the course of your employment (i.e. a major outage, or a hiring interview) you will take it so seriously so as to go and lose sleep over the issue.

Tell them that every other person they talk to is going to be more composed, more zippy, more sparkly... but NO ONE, and I mean NO ONE will take this job as seriously as you will, and it shows.